Sometimes in life, history repeats itself. Sara knows this, but when someone in the Council has something to prove, her life will be ripped apart again. Loren has made an enemy in the establishment, and now all of them would suffer for it. The Council orders him to Europe for an exclusive hunt, and has no choice but to bring Adoniia along with him. The ex-sex-slave has no idea how to proceed with such an unimaginable and daunting task. Left alone with Keoni and her most recent convert, Carl, Sara is locked away from anyone who could harm, or help her. Danger watches them, waiting for the perfect opportunity to strike, and they will find it this time. A Jaded menace is upon them, and this time, the Hunter becomes the hunted.
